Brisbane Tennis Centre
 Total of 45 attendees

[+ indicates the additional number of people who mentioned the same or similar view point].

I learned ... The coaches had similar ideas + + + + Communication is the key (coaches shared) + That some people are bitter That communication between TQ, TA and local coaches is not only positive, but necessary COMMENT – “COACHES CAN WORK TOGETHER”, ANONYMOUS
I liked ... The format/structure + + + + + (everyone contributed) The chance to express opinions, ideas and share + + + + + The frankness of the conversation + The goals of the meeting That we understood each other Interaction opportunity and minimal wasted time The concept
I felt ... Encouraged and motivated by the new direction/change + + + Everyone at my table had their say – voice an opinion + + Passion and knowledge in the room + + That change can happen if people really want it to The forum was well organised COMMENT – “IT WAS A POSITIVE ATTEMPT TO LISTEN TO COACHES” – STUART WARE, TCAQ PRESIDENT
I thought ... Needed more time + + + + + + + That the initiative by Tennis Australia was excellent – great opportunity + These forums have potential I was given a chance to express my opinions Things can come of these LAGs and significant changes can occur There are many issues to be addressed Good support from TA/TQ Easy to get off track – perhaps more structure in small groups COMMENT – “THE CONCEPT IS GREAT (LONG OVERDUE)”, ANONYMOUS
I wonder ... If anything will change/happen + + + + + + + + + How today’s initiative will impact on my coaching business Where are all the young particularly female coaches? Where will we be in 5-10 years Cost to implement If coaches could have a similar opportunity to be consulted about business units in tennis COMMENT – “WHY THIS HAS NOT HAPPENED SOONER, BUT NOW IT HAS HAPPENED PLEASE KEEP IT UP!”, ANON
