

Rain Rain go away...

Well what a day yesterday was with the rain coming through. While forecast, the rain combined with the wind sure did throw a cat amongst the pigeons.

Play was abandoned for the second match at Mooroopna but we managed to get through the third round unscathed. However, it did remind me of that scene in the movie Twister, with Helen Hunt and Denis Quaid, where they chase the hurricanes. We could have had our own flying cow scenes.

Actual photo of us trying to hold down the Fight MND tent before it flew away.

Welcome Beyond Blue to Country Week

Today we're joined by Sam from Beyondblue.
Beyondblue announced its new community partnership with Tennis Australia in October 2018, with an aim to highlight the importance of taking care of your mental wellbeing on – and beyond – the court.

If you're at the Mooroopna courts today, head to the Player Village to meet Sam and play some snakes and ladders, jump in the photo booth and get a fake tattoo.

Let's do this again!

Thanks to Visit Albury Wodonga for joining us at Mooroopna today to promote next years event. You would have also seen in your Welcome Pack that there were also entry forms for next year's Country Week. You can register your team as early as now, but we will not process your team entry fee until later in the year.

Cheezelgate

This publication has been asked to share a message with you all to lock your cars. It's unfortunate when these things happen but we must take the safety of all players and their property seriously.

Yesterday there was an incident when the lure of Cheezels got too much for one player. And she got busted. So, if you've got valuables in your car, please keep them safe.

Uniforms

It was brought to my attention by the Williamstown Warriors that they felt left out of this newsletter when it came to shoutouts to unique uniforms. And I agree. The Williamstown ladies are looking fantastic this week in their New York Yankees inspired kit.
