

Recognition of Current Competence (RCC) Application Form Tennis Australia Junior Development coaching course

What is RCC?

At Tennis Australia, we understand that coaches gain skills and knowledge through a range of work, study, life and other experiences. Prior learning has the capacity to significantly contribute toward an individual's current level of competence. In consideration of this, Tennis Australia offers the possibility for suitable candidates to provide evidence of their current level of competence or prior learning. This process is called Recognition of Current Competence (RCC) or Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL). RCC is an assessment process that measures and evaluates an individual's formal and informal learning experiences to determine the extent to which the individual has achieved the required learning and competency outcomes or standards for entry to, and/or partial or total completion of a coaching course.

If you have extensive coaching experience working with beginner and intermediate players, you may be a good candidate to achieve the Tennis Australia Junior Development coaching course certificate via the RCC process. During the RCC process, the coach's current knowledge and skills are assessed against a set of core competencies required by a Junior Development coach. Coaches undertaking the course in the face-to-face mode are required to successfully complete a series of assessment tasks which allow the coach to provide evidence of their competence in these core areas. The competence of RCC candidates will be assessed and evaluated in a similar way. Candidates will be required to provide evidence to successfully complete these assessment tasks. Additional evidence may also be required in support of the candidate's RCC application.

The Coach Development Coordinator (CDC) and Coach Development Manager (CDM) in your state or territory will review the RCC application to identify whether the candidate is suitable for the RCC process.

Based on this assessment a recommendation to the RCC candidate to either:

1. Continue on the RCC path to achieve the Junior Development coaching course qualification; or,
2. Enrol in the next Tennis Australia Junior Development coaching course to complete the qualification.

Characteristics of a Junior Development coach

A junior development coach must be able to:

- Create and maintain a positive environment for players
- Conduct well planned coaching sessions which cater for the developmental readiness of players, are meaningful to tennis and provide maximum participation and practice opportunities
- Plan for the continual development of players
- Implement various coaching programs for beginner tennis players, specifically an FPMS program and ANZ Tennis Hot Shots program
- Effectively communicate to players, parents and other key stakeholders; and,
- Reflect on their coaching performance and manage personal well-being.

Overview of the Junior Development coaching course

During the Junior Development coaching course, participants learn to develop the skills of junior tennis players through the delivery of the ANZ Tennis Hot Shots program. There is a major focus on planning, delivering and reflecting on coaching sessions and creating positive learning environments for children. The course covers the ANZ Tennis Hot Shots program, Tennis Australia technical and tactical fundamentals, Cardio Tennis, legal and ethical responsibilities of a coach, risk management, program planning, tennis rules, personal development and using technology. Coaches completing this course are recognised as Tennis Australia qualified coaches*.

Through our collaboration with a Registered Training Organisation (RTO), coaches undertaking the course in the face-to-face mode are able to enrol with the RTO to undertake the course as a nationally recognised SIS30713 Certificate III in Sport Coaching qualification. If you would like more information about the possibility of applying for a Statement of Attainment from the RTO for the SIS30713 Certificate III in Sport Coaching IN ADDITION to the Tennis Australia Junior Development coaching course certificate as part of your Recognition of Current Competency (RCC) application, please contact the relevant Coach Development Coordinator or Coach Development Manager in your state.*

Additional fees and assessment requirements apply.

Elements and performance criteria

Each unit of competency is made up of a series of elements. These elements of competency are the building blocks of the unit.

Performance criteria are statements that specify what is to be assessed and the required level of performance for each element of competency. Coaches will be required to provide evidence of competent performance in each criterion. A range of assessment tasks will be used to assess these performance criteria. Several performance criteria may be assessed during one task (e.g., during an on-court coaching session). Tasks may be written, oral or practical and will assess the coach's knowledge, skills and understanding.

Providing evidence

RCC candidates are required to provide evidence of their competency for each element of competency and corresponding performance criteria.

The rules of evidence gathering are:

- The evidence you provide must be valid. It must relate to the specific competency unit that has been identified
- The evidence must be authentic. It must be something you have produced or that has been written about you
- Evidence must be sufficient and demonstrate complete competency against the information that underpins a competency statement
- The evidence must be reliable. It must show you can consistently perform a given competency to the required standard.
- Evidence must be current. This is a particularly important aspect as you must be able to demonstrate your evidence is still relevant to the skills and knowledge you have

Prior learning can include skills and knowledge gained through:

- Paid work experience - full-time, part-time or casual in Australia or overseas
- Voluntary work
- Unpaid work that you do for yourself or your family such as managing events
- Being coached or mentored (or coaching and mentoring others)
- Attending and participating in seminars, conferences and workshops
- Short courses that are not TAFE accredited
- Private study and research
- Any other life experiences that have given you competencies that match those in the relevant courses

Types of evidence

There are three types of evidence: direct, indirect and historical. The following table is a guide and you may be able to think of other types of evidence to demonstrate your skills and knowledge.

Type of evidence	Examples of evidence
